- Plate DXLVIII a. Top fragment of a Pali inscription originally found at Mergui, perhaps in Maunglaw-kwin. On loan from the Phayre Museum in the hall of University Library, Rangoon, the original stone was blown to bits in the destruction of that building by the Japanese. It was originally set up by an early king of Pagan, Śrī Bajrābharāṇa, probably the king now known as Sawlu. See Bulletin de la Commission Archéologique de l'Indochine, 1909, p. 237, and Fig. 28; ibid., 1910, p. 153. ASB 1911, pp. 26 and 41, App. G, No. 6; 1919, p. 25, para. 46, fn. 9; perhaps also ibid., 1907, p. 13.
- Plate DXLVIII b. Fragment of an Old Mon inscription on the platform of Myathabeit pagoda, at the top of the hill above Thatôn. It is a duplicate of part of Old Mon Inscription III, Face C, lines 6 to 15: see Ep. Birm., vol. I, pt. ii, pp. 135-6. On top of the same hill there is also a larger stone with some 30 lines of writing, which may perhaps contain an earlier passage of the same inscription, but it is so faint as to be almost illegible. Arch. phot. 247, 248/4482, 4483 of 1940-1.
- Plate DXLVIII c. Fragment of an Old Mon inscription found under a fallen banyan-tree in a ditch on the west side of the road leading to the foot of Myathabeit pagoda hill, about 10 yards north-west of the monastery of Nyaungwaing quarter, Thatôn. It is a duplicate of part of Old Mon Inscription III, Faces A line 1 to C line 14: see Ep. Birm., vol. I, pt. ii, pp. 132-6. Arch. phot. 250, 251/4485, 4486 of 1940-1.

INDEX OF PLATES

Plate DXLIX. Old Mon inscription at Kyaiktè zedi, 2 miles west of Alu village, and 3 miles north of Taungzun, Thatôn district, some 32 miles north-west of Thatôn. It is mostly a duplicate of Old Mon Inscription V, Ep. Birm., vol. I, pt. ii, pp. 143–7, still standing propped up in the ruins of Rangoon University Library, but originally from Myatheindan pagoda at Ayethhèma hill, a few miles south-west of Kyaiktè zedi (see Pe Maung Tin, JBRS, vol. xxviii, 1938, pt. 1, p. 92). Date : 460 s.

Plate DL a. Ep. Birm., vol. I, pt. ii, p. 143. List, App. A, 10. Old Mon Inscription IV, four-faced, found a quarter-mile east of Alanpagan tank, three-quarters of a mile south-east of Thansinkyè (or Kunsinkyè) village, and the same distance east of Hkôndangyi village, between Tuywindaung and Minnanthu, Pagan (West face). Now at Pagan Museum (Stone 116). Compare Old Mon Inscription III, Face A, ll. 1–28.

- some 70 yds. south of Paya-gyi pagoda, outside the city-wall of Śrīkṣetra, 4 miles east of modern Prome. Arch. phot. 1174, 1175 of 1912-13. ASB 1913, pp. 14-15. Now at the Archaeological Office, Mandalay.
- Plate DLXXI a. At Shwekyimyint pagoda, 82nd Street (between 23rd and 24th Streets), Mandalay. Date : 530 s. (?).
- Plate DLXXI b. Inscription on Wèbo stone, now at the inscription-shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 20). Date : 537 s.
- Plate DLXXII a. Two-faced inscription-stone now at the shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 149, West face). The lower fragment (ll. 12-27) has appeared already in Portfolio III, Plate CCCXXXIVa (List 1336. A 474). The whole of the legible face is now shown with the date : 1735 A.B., 553 s. The other face, very likely in the same hand, is not shown, since only a few letters at the sides and bottom are now legible.
- Plate DLXXII b. A Wèbo stone inscription, now at the shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 344). Date : 562 (?) s.
- Plate DLXXIII a. Originally from Kalein village, Meiktila. Now at the inscription-shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 82). Date : 570 (?) s.
- Plate DLXXIII b. Inscription on Wèbo stone, now at the shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 31). Date : 586 (?) s.
- Plate DLXXIV a. Found near the north-east corner of Pyatthat-hla pagoda, Pyidawtha quarter, Ywa-thitgyi, Sagaing district. Date : 580 (? 581) s.
- Plate DLXXIV b. List 198. A 61. Originally from Lemyethna pagoda, Tabè myo, near Ava. Now at the inscription-shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 29). Date : 588 s.
- Plate DLXXV. List 875. A 374. A Wèbo stone inscription now at the shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 331). Date doubtful, possibly 593 s., but not 785 s. as the book suggests.
- Plate DLXXVI a. Two-faced inscription, probably of Wèbo stone, now at the 'thein' at Shwepauk-ôk pagoda, north-west of Yamôngyi village, Myittha township, Kyauksè district, 2 miles west of Minzu, 6 miles north-northwest of Myittha. Appears to have been found 'near a ruinous pagoda, in very thick jungle, one mile to the north of Yamôngyi village', in or near Myingôndaing (Obverse). Date : 568 (? 558) s. See ASB 1941, p. xxiv, App. H, No. 26, and p. 32.
- Plate DLXXVI b. Ditto (Reverse). Date : 603 (?) s.
- Plate DLXXVII. Now at the inscription-shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 334). Date : 611 s. For other versions of Kīlacwā's edict against thieves, see Portfolio II, Plates CLXVI to CLXXIII, and Portfolio III, Plates CCCXLIV to CCCXLV a. Stone 272 at the inscription-shed east of the Palace, Mandalay, is another version, but so little is legible that it seems not worth while to reproduce it. At A 568 (List 1422) appears another version, probably a fragment at the Patodawgyi; this stone has not been traced.
- Plate DLXXVIII a. List 1368. A 510. Two-faced inscription now at the shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 380, Obverse). Date : 616 s. The reverse (List 1366), with no legible date, is not given, since the writing shows it to belong to a later period.
- Plate DLXXVIII b. Small inscription-stone dug up at the cemetery near Nga Tet Pya pagoda, Sagaing. Now at the inscription-shed, Htupayôn pagoda (Stone 20). Date : 621 s.
- Plate DLXXIX. Originally from Kaleinkyin village, Meiktila township. Now at the shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 325). Date : 627 s. (wrongly given in the book as 617 s.). It was in two

INDEX OF PLATES

- Plate DXCIX c. Fragment in the Annexe to the inscription-shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 581). Year-date illegible.
- Plate DXCIX d. U Lu Pe Win reports that this fragment is now the top part of Stone 373 in the main inscription-shed east of the Palace, Mandalay. It is therefore the top part of the inscription shown at Portfolio III, Plate CCCXXXII b (List 1449, A 595), where these top lines are not visible.
- Plate DC a. List 1393. A 537. Two-faced inscription now at the shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 328, West face). Year-date lost.
- Plate DC b. Ditto (East face). Year-date doubtful.
- Plate DCI a. Base of a stone inscription, badly flaked, originally from 'Kyaunggyigôn pagoda'. Now at the inscription-shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 382). No legible date.
- Plate DCI b. Fragment without a number, stored in the inscription-shed east of the Palace, Mandalay. 11+lines. No date.
- Plate DCI c. Fragment from the right side of an inscription, now at the shed east of the Palace, Mandalay. It is included here by mistake, for it already appears as part of Stone 508, from Nga Myagyi, Sagaing district: see supra, Plate DLXXXVI b.
- Plate DCII a. Base of an inscription-stone, originally from Môngywa. Now at the shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 436). No date.
- Plate DCII b. North side-face of an inscription-stone now at the shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 264). No date. The main face has an inscription, not shown here, in coarse late cursive.
- Plate DCII c. Fragment from the left side of an inscription now at the shed east of the Palace, Mandalay. U Lu Pe Win reports that it is the left lower portion of Stone 475, East face, shown at Portfolio II, Plate CXXXV b (the obverse is dated 601 s.).
- Plate DCII d. Small fragment in clear old hand, from the middle of an inscription. Once at the Patodawgyi, Amarapura, it is now no longer traceable. 6+lines. No date.
- Plate DCIII a. Fragment from the bottom left corner of an inscription, now at the shed east of the Palace, Mandalay (Stone 367). The place of origin, written below on the socle in modern hand, is hard to read. No legible date.
- Plate DCIII b. Two-faced fragment from the base of a stone, originally from the Thingadeippa monastery, Sagaing. Removed to the Patodawgyi, Amarapura—a fragment without a number, it has not been recovered. Only the Obverse (year-date illegible) is here shown. The reverse (14+lines, without date) is in a smaller, later hand.
- Plates DCIV, DCV. A selection of short writings in Old Burmese on terracotta votive tablets dug up from a mound in U Chit Sa's field, Taungbi village, east of the Amanda temple, Pagan. They are now at Pagan Museum. No date. Plate DCIV a shows a specimen obverse. The rest show names of fruits, flowers, &c., engraved on various reverses. Thus:

INDEX OF PLATES

Plate DCVI. A selection of short writings in Old Mon on the reverses of terracotta votive tablets found at Pagan. No date. Now at Pagan Museum, generally without note of origin. From List of Archaeological Photo-Negatives of Burma (Delhi, 1936), p. 18, it would appear that most of them (Nos. 3570–3591) were found at Sha-htôk-paya, west of Sômingyi pagoda, south of Myinpagan. At least one (No. 3569) was found at Kyauk-myet-hpyaw pagoda, north of Tawyagyaung monastery. One (fig. f, infra), ‘the Buddha moulded by Lord May’ (?), comes from the Lemyethna Payagôn, south of Sômingyi pagoda. They fall into the following rough divisions :

- | | | |
|---------------------------------|---|---|
| a, b, i, j, k,
l, m, n, o, p | } | —Moulding of the tablets by Srī Bisannarāc. |
| q, r, u, v | — | Prayer of the sumbeñ Srī Bisannarāc. |
| s, x | — | Prayer of Yāsōhda’rāh. |
| t, w | — | Buddha of trila Candumāh. |
| e, f | — | Miscellaneous. |
| c, d, g, h | — | Very likely Old Burmese and not Old Mon. If so, an overflow from the previous two plates. |

Plate DCVII a. Ui’ Mwan Sañ’s horoscope, dated 664 s. Ink inscription in the north-east window, ground floor, of Tarôkpyé temple, Minnanthu, Pagan.

Plate DCVII b. Uim Pay Ōñ’s horoscope, dated 669 s.; and Uim Pay Ñai’s horoscope, dated 677 s. Ink inscriptions on the ground floor of Tarôkpyé temple, Minnanthu, Pagan.

Plate DCVIII a. Ui’ Khyat Tun’s horoscope, dated 678 s. Ink inscription in the north window-arch, west corridor, ground floor of Tarôkpyé temple, Minnanthu, Pagan.

Plate DCVIII b. Ña Lum Lha’s horoscope, dated 709 s. Ink inscription in the soffit of the arch, east porch, Nga Hsu Pyi zedi, south of Peinnè zedi, near Dhammayazika pagoda, West Pwazaw, Pagan.

Plate DCIX a. Horoscopes of Uim Ñay, dated 658 s. (?), of Uim Chīy Plañ, dated 656 s., of Ña Nuñ, dated 664 s., and of another, dated 669 s. Ink inscriptions in the Mi-nyangôn temple, on the east side of the road to Myinpagan, south of the moat, Pagan.

Plate DCIX b. Horoscopes dated 707, 735, and 742 s. Ink inscriptions in the Mi-nyangôn temple, on the east side of the road to Myinpagan, south of the moat, Pagan.
